

Thank you for your interest volunteering with Saltbush, Balnarring Beach.

Saltbush relies on the contribution of a variety of people with diverse skills to deliver and improve our service. As a not for profit organisation with limited resources, volunteers are a valued and important part of the Saltbush Team. Volunteering also has benefits for volunteers, such as learning new skills, a sense of contributing and helping, and meeting new people. We hope that volunteering at Saltbush is a mutually beneficial, meaningful, and positive experience.

This pack contains information that you might find helpful in considering becoming a volunteer at Saltbush. The pack also contains information about our policies and processes that may impact volunteers.

If you have any questions or concerns, please don't hesitate to contact us to discuss.

Warm regards,

Rachel Connor

General Information

About Saltbush, Balnarring Beach

Saltbush, Balnarring Beach is the trading name of the Presentation Family Centre Inc. We are a not for profit organisation, a registered charity with the Australian Charities and Non Profits Commission (ACNC), and we have tax deductible gift recipient status with the Australian Tax Office (ATO). Presentation Family Centre is an Incorporated Association, registered with Consumer Affairs. We produce Annual Reports, which are published on our website.

Saltbush was established in 1989, then called the Presentation Family Holidays, by the Presentation Sisters of Victoria “provide a place of welcome, comfort and rest to all who call upon it and a retreat within which they might regenerate their spirits”. (Presentation Family Centre ‘Rules’).

This work continues today. Saltbush is now one of three Community Works of Kildare Ministries, alongside the Brigidine Asylum Seeker Project (BASP), and Wellsprings for Women, a multicultural neighbourhood house in Dandenong.

Our Guests

Guests are usually referred by Community Service Organisations, Hospitals or Schools. Guests may also self-refer. Our guests include:

- Families caring for children with disabilities/illness who need a break.
- Families recovering from violence who need to reconnect and recover.
- People living with poor physical or mental health, who benefit from a rest in a safe, peaceful environment.
- Asylum seeker families who need additional financial and other support to have time away together.
- Foster parent and grandparent carer families who need a rest in a peaceful environment.
- Low-income families from urban environments who benefit from connecting with nature.

Our work is guided by our Values and our Principles.

Our Values

Justice: we prioritise supporting those who face barriers to access.

Hospitality: we are warm, welcoming and inclusive.

Hope: we create experiences that are uplifting.

Our Principles

Strengths-Based

We start from a point of view that our guests have much to offer. We recognise that through facing various challenges, our guests have often developed a variety of life skills and coping strategies that allow them to navigate complex situations. We work with guests to help them have a comfortable, independent, relaxing stay, and we focus on what's possible and preferable for them, at this time.

Inclusive

We believe that all people, regardless of their abilities, social class, sexuality, gender, and cultural, linguistic and/or religious diversity, should be able to enjoy a peaceful and restful holiday. We actively include all members of families and carer units in holiday programs, acknowledging the benefits of multi generational participation and connection. We work in partnership with families, carers, and individuals to consider the diverse needs of our guests as they access an independent holiday, and we try to support the varying needs of program participants to help them feel included and welcome.

Connecting

At Saltbush we value connection; be it to self, to others, to spirituality, or to the natural world. A holiday, program or retreat at Saltbush provides space and time for guests to connect in ways that work for them. In our programs and retreats, we believe in connecting in positive ways, including through fun, rest, play, creativity, exploration, education, and adventure. We acknowledge the importance of connection for our guests, which can provide a sense of safety, happiness and purpose, and some protection from the challenges of life.

Nature

We know that access to, and appreciation of the natural world is not available to all, and we consciously incorporate nature into our programs and experiences. We actively work to protect nature so that it may be enjoyed and loved well into the future. We encourage our guests to find peace and comfort in the natural world, living and learning through, in, and about it on the land at Saltbush, and the broader surrounding areas of Balnarring Beach and the Mornington Peninsula

Choice

We respect the autonomy of our guests and encourage them to consider the most suitable holiday experience for them, at this moment in their lives. Guests are free to choose the type of independent holiday they wish to have: they can choose to stay at Saltbush independently and enjoy their own holiday experience; or guests can choose to participate in scheduled programs and retreats, run throughout the year.
